RE: Rate Survey Questionnaire

Dear Ms. Wilson:

I return on behalf of the Time Warner Cable division of Time Warner Entertainment Company, L.P. ("TWC") the completed Commission rate survey questionnaire sent under cover of your letter of September 17, 1993. TWC has, as best possible, researched, compiled and set forth the information in the form requested within the very short time frame set by the Commission for responses. We are, of course, aware of the concerns expressed in Congress and elsewhere which have prompted this survey and which underlie the sense of urgency evidenced by the short time frame that the Commission established for the survey response.

Our completed questionnaires are provided to the Commission in both computer readable form and hard copy. Certain important information from the surveys is summarized below:

Most subscribers have received a reduction in regulated rates. Of the subscribers surveyed, over 62% have received a reduction in their regulated rates and less than 32% have received an increase. In nine out of the ten systems surveyed, substantially more subscribers received a reduction in regulated rates than received an increase. The one exception was TWC's system in lower Manhattan, New York, where more subscribers received a rate increase than decrease. This unique result is due to particular circumstances. During the time period which the survey covers, the system completed a major and expensive upgrade which significantly increased channel capacity. Upon completion of the upgrade in all areas, the system, as planned long prior to reregulation, combined with the second tier a third tier of service which was previously available only in upgraded areas. It is notable that in TWC's lower Manhattan system the rate for basic service has decreased despite a significant addition in channels in the basic tier. Elsewhere in New York City, as the enclosed survey indicates, all of the customers in our eastern Queens franchise received a notable decrease in rates for regulated services.

No. of Copies rec'd
List ABCDE

2 Copies

If the lower Manhattan system, with its unique rebuild circumstances, is excluded from the totals, less than 25% of the TWC subscribers surveyed received an increase in regulated rates and over 68% saw a decrease.

The amount of the average decrease in regulated rates is significantly greater than the average increase in rates. Not only have most subscribers received a decrease in regulated rates, but the average amount of the decrease for those subscribers receiving a decrease in regulated rates is significantly greater than the amount of the increase for subscribers receiving an increase. Among the subscribers surveyed, the average increase was $1.72 and the average decrease was $4.04.

TWC's total billed monthly charges for regulated services have declined. As indicated in the enclosed survey forms, TWC's billed charges for regulated services have declined. This is the case not only for the overall total of systems surveyed but in every individual system surveyed, except for lower Manhattan. The explanation in Manhattan there again is the completion of the upgraded system as well as a significantly above average increase in the number of subscribers during the surveyed period.

TWC's total billed monthly charges for regulated services per subscriber have declined. In every system surveyed, the billed charges for regulated services per subscriber have declined. For all subscribers surveyed, TWC's monthly billed charges per subscriber for regulated services declined by almost $2.00. This demonstrates not only TWC's effort to adjust its rates in line with the benchmark rate regulations of the FCC, but also its strict compliance with the rate freeze order.

If the Commission wishes any clarification of this information supplied herewith or any additional information, please contact the undersigned.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script, appearing to read "Henry J. Gerken", followed by a vertical line and the initials "ds".
